WEB TECHNOLOGY MINIPROJECT WIREFRAME

TOPIC: FITNESS WEBSITE

Firstly, the reason to build a website is to make things easy for accessing as well as organisation. The frontend mainly comprises of the looks and normal inputs which are given by the user, and some for designing purposes, which involves HTML and CSS. The backend part of it helps in storing of the memory that is given into it. It even helps in functioning of our prettified website, for which we have to use Java Script, React and many more.

Our website is based on Fitness theme, which is basically the gym website, where a user can get a detailed information of what type of workout he needs to do, specific diet to follow, easy accessing of tutorials of workout sessions, timetable including the rest time and amount of food to be taken and even making sure they get an understanding about certain things by reading the attached articles by expertise trainers and bodybuilders.

Based on the above theme and order, we have planned to make a website which involves all of them as show in the attached file. Each of the individual task anchors to a new webpage. Tutorials being attached are basically taken from YouTube. Initially, a user needs to enter his login details to access all the information in the website. If he needs a separate trainer, certain price need to paid to get it. The information entered is stored in a file which works in backend.

This is how our website will look and run. A simple yet an elegant way to showcase all the details related to fitness through a website.
